It is essential that schools and communities know the incidence of school violence and be up to date on the best safety and prevention practices. This presentation will review numerous state and national initiatives that have focused on school safety and the recommendations from a variety of foundations started by parents who lost their children in tragic school shootings. Many school shooters died by suicide and this presentation will outline the major theory of murder suicide. The presenter has a wealth of practical experience responding to school crises and participants, whether they are parents, school personnel or community members will learn many lessons from school tragedies and practical strategies to prevent future school violence.

Learning Objectives

At the end of this seminar, participants will be able to:
1. Identify key factors that increase school safety and especially how to get students more involved in school safety
2. Identify how to assess threats of violence and determine whether a threat is substantial or transient
3. Identify the common characteristics and the proposed types of school shooters
4. Identify three lessons from reports and books written about school violence including the 2016 book written by Sue Klebold, the mother of a Columbine perpetrator
5. Identify three things to do following a school shooting

Our seminars are available in two formats: The first is a live, interactive webinar. You can ask questions of our presenters, either by typing them or speaking into a microphone. If the webinar time is not convenient for you, you can purchase the Home Study version. It is a recorded version of the webinar. You will have to pass a test to earn CE's for both the live webinar and the Home Study version.

Below are the seminar details:

Begin 1:00 PM ET

Prevalence
Responses to school violence
Risk factors for violence
Types of shooters
Best practices for schools
Case Examples
Threat Assessments
SAVRY
Confidentiality

End at 4:15 PM ET

The Presenter

Dr. Scott Poland is a Professor at CPS and the Co-Director of the Suicide and Violence Prevention Office at Nova Southeastern University.

The presenter is an internationally recognized expert on school crisis and youth suicide and has authored five books and numerous chapters on the subject. He previously directed psychological services for a large Texas school system for 24 years and is a past President of the National Association of School Psychologists and a past Prevention Division Director for the American Association of Suicidology. He recently co-authored the Suicide Safer School Plan for the Texas State Health Services Department and Mental Health America Texas. He was also a founding member of the National Emergency Assistance Team and has assisted schools/communities after many tragedies such as school shootings, suicides and acts of terrorism. He is very dedicated to prevention and has testified about the needs of children before the U.S. Congress on four occasions. He has also been involved as an expert witness in numerous legal cases where schools were sued following a crisis.